

Activities Related to Therapies for Pregnant and Lactating Women: Other Federal Agencies

Research

Clinical Care and Practice, Support
Services

Information and Communications

Collaborations

- SAMHSA
- Other HHS Agencies
- USDA
- EPA
- Other Federal Agencies

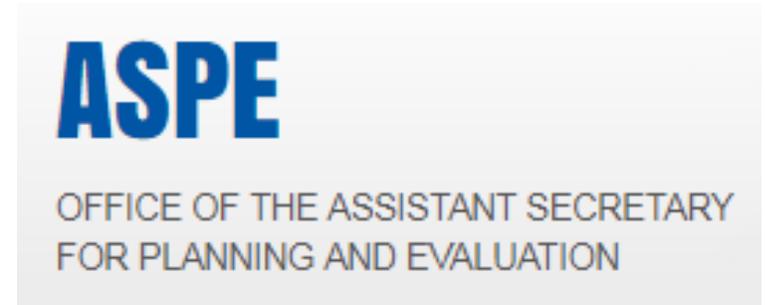

Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA)

- Research:
 - Prevalence of mental health disorders, substance abuse in pregnant and lactating women
 - Medication-assisted substance abuse treatment programs
 - Evidence review -- interventions for pregnant women who use opioids
- Clinical Care
 - Substance abuse treatment for pregnant women – residential & community
 - Practice and policy considerations (with ACF)
- Communications

Other HHS Agencies: Clinical Care, Support, Data, and Communications

Department of Agriculture

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

- Research
 - Animal research and animal models
 - Dual use research – collaboration with NIH. Examples:
 - Placental growth and fetal growth in sheep and humans
 - Drug candidates for treatment of parasites during pregnancy--
Cryptosporidium and Toxoplasma in cattle, sheep, and humans
 - Food safety and healthy diet in pregnant and lactating women
 - Pregnancy and Birth to 24 Months Project (with HHS agencies)
- Women, Infants, and Children (WIC)

Environmental Protection Agency

United States
Environmental Protection
Agency

- Research
 - Environmental exposure in pregnancy and lactation
 - Basic physiological research on pregnancy
 - Toxicology and basic teratology research, including new methods
 - Effects of untreated illness during pregnancy, in animal models
 - Effects of anticonvulsant, thyroid drugs on pregnancy in animal models
 - Healthy Baby, Healthy Pregnancy study
- Collaborations with NIH/NIEHS

Other Federal Agencies: Research, Clinical Care, Support Services, Data, and Communications

United States
CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY
COMMISSION

USAID
FROM THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

United States™
Census
Bureau

National Science Foundation
WHERE DISCOVERIES BEGIN

THANK YOU!